Mayoral candidates file final pre-election reports

By MARK CAMPBELL
Courier Staff writer

The candidates in Madison's mayoral race have submitted their final campaign report before the Nov. 5 election, listing contributions and expenditures to date, and Republican candidate Bob Courtney has taken in about $7,620 more than Democrat Julie Berry in the most recent reporting period and $15,176 more for the year to date.

The two candidates filed their reports last week. While Courtney's numbers are higher for the period and year, Berry entered 2019 with $21,676 to just $6,474 by Courtney. Courtney has $7,161 in debts owed, including $6,563 in loans he has made to his own campaign.

With just two weeks left until election day, Courtney's campaign has spent $49,001 this year — $35,642 in the most recent period — while Berry has spent $36,006 this year — $30,203 of that in the most recent period.

Based on campaign contributions, loans and expenditures, Courtney's war chest appears to have $23,903 still available to spend while Berry appears to have $21,722 in her coffers.

The top items in Courtney's campaign expenditures are the $8,716 he's spent with MPS Printing in Madison, the $3,559 he's spent with ScreenBroidery of Indianapolis and the $7,511 he's spent on advertising with The Madison Courier.

Berry's biggest campaign expense has been the $9,241 she has spent with Wildfire Contact, a campaign communications and strategy firm, and the $4,592 she's spent on advertising with The Madison Courier.

The biggest contributions to Courtney's campaign this year have been the $10,000 he received from Commonwealth Engineers PAC out of Indianapolis, $3,500 in total contributions by Sarah Libby Mann of Madison, and the $2,000 each from Morgan Foods Inc., Warren Auxier, Jennifer Hambrick, Shawn and Kim Auxier, Steve Moore and John Road.

The biggest contributors to Berry's campaign this year have been a $5,000 contribution from the Indiana Democrats Victory Committee PAC, $2,000 from Morgan Foods Inc. and $1,600 from the Indiana Democratic Party PAC.

As of Monday morning, not all candidate finance reports were in to the Voter Registration Office at the courthouse.

The election is Tuesday, Nov. 5 with early voting from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Voter Registration Office at the Courthouse.

PAINTING A MADISON LANDMARK

Triple D Painting, three brothers with a little help from Dad, have been busy most of this month painting the exterior of The Lanier Mansion. The historic landmark, home of James F.D. Lanier, a Madison businessman, was designed and built by architect Francis Costigan. It was finished in 1844. The Dicken brothers — Adam, Josh and David — and their father, also a David, said they began work in early October and expect to be finished by the end of the month. The color is a custom paint known as Lanier Mansion Body Color and is a latex-based paint. (Courier staff photos by Connor Jacobs) See more pictures on Page A6.

Wetter in the North

Warmer winter than average expected for many areas

From NOAA

Warmer-than-average temperatures are forecast for much of the U.S. this winter, according to NOAA's Climate Prediction Center. Although below-average temperatures are not favored, cold weather is anticipated and some areas could still experience a colder-than-average winter. Wetter-than-average weather is most likely across the Northern Tier of the U.S. during winter, which extends from December through February.

"Without either El Niño or La Niña conditions, short-term climate patterns like the Arctic Oscillation will drive winter weather and could result in large swings in temperature and precipitation," said Mike Halpert, deputy director of NOAA's Climate Prediction Center.

This spring saw significant and historic flooding across the central U.S. that impacted nearly 17 million people. However, during the summer and early fall, drought rapidly developed across much of the South, with drought conditions now present across approximately 20% of the country.

The greatest likelihood for warmer-than-normal conditions are in Alaska and Hawaii, with more modest probabilities for above-average temperatures spanning large parts of the remaining lower 48 states from the West across the South and up the eastern seaboard.

The Northern Plains, Upper Mississippi Valley and the western Great Lakes have equal chances for below-, near- or above-average temperatures.

No part of the U.S. is favored to have below-average temperatures this winter.

Discipline hearing underway for AG on groping allegation

Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS — Indiana's attorney general faces a hearing over whether allegations that he drunkenly groped four women at a bar amounted to professional misconduct. Republican Curtis Hill disputes the claims from a state lawmaker and three legislative staffers that he inappropriately touched their backs or buttocks during a party celebrating the end of the 2018 legislative session. The attorney disciplinary complaint hearing that started Monday before a former state Supreme Court justice could last a week. The former justice will recommend any punishment to the Indiana Supreme Court. The state's high court will ultimately decide whether to impose a reprimand or any other sanctions on Hill's law license. He's required to have that as the state's top lawyer. Hill has rebuffed calls to resign from Republican Gov. Eric Holcomb and others.

Public meetings set on final I-69 plans

MARTINSVILLE — State officials have set three public meetings in central Indiana for updates on plans for the final leg of the Interstate 69 extension project that's been under construction since 2008. The Indiana Department of Transportation expects significant construction to start next year upgrading the current Indiana 37 corridor between Martinsville on I-465 on the southwest side of Indianapolis. The 26-mile section is expected to cost $1.5 billion and be open by late 2024. The public meetings are Monday at Martinsville High School, Tuesday at Center Grove High School near Greenwood and Thursday at Perry Meridian High School in Indianapolis. Each session starts at 5:30 p.m. Officials say residents can participate in surveys on projects aesthetics such as pedestrian walkways and lighting. The I-69 extension now is from Evansville to Martinsville.

Man dies after boating accident

MUNCIE — A 71-year-old man has died after a boating accident in eastern Indiana. The Indiana Department of Natural Resources said Lenard Anderson was thrown Sunday morning from a boat he was operating after it collided with another vessel in Prairie Creek Reservoir, northeast of Indianapolis. Witnesses have told Indiana conservation officers that Anderson of Muncie may have suffered a medical emergency before the accident. He was not wearing a life jacket. Witnesses had pulled Anderson from the water and cardiopulmonary resuscitation was started by the time first responders arrived. Anderson was dead at the scene. Anderson's boat continued operating in circles on the reservoir until conservation officers were able to disable the motor.

Alum gives $60M for new IU center

BLOOMINGTON — An Indiana University alumnus who founded a technology company has donated $60 million to IU for the creation of an artificial intelligence center. ServiceNow founder Fred Luddy made the donation, which is the second-largest private gift IU has ever received. ServiceNow is a cloud-computing company based in Santa Clara, California. IU said Luddy's $60 million donation will finance the creation of an artificial intelligence initiative focused on digital health. It will be based in what's now known as the IU Luddy School of Informatics, Computing and Engineering, but will be renamed the Luddy School of Informatics, Computing and Engineering. The New Castle, Indiana, native's gift includes funding for construction of a building that will house the artificial intelligence center. It will be named the Luddy Center for Artificial Intelligence.

Purdue prof, wife plead guilty in scheme

HAMMOND — A Purdue University professor and his wife have pleaded guilty to using more that $1 million in federal research funds for their own personal expenses. Qingyou Han, 61, of West Lafayette is director of Purdue's Center for Materials Processing Research. He and his wife, Lu Shao, 53, of Lakewood, Ohio, pleaded guilty Friday to a felony wire fraud charge in federal court in Hammond. Federal prosecutors say Han admitted using $1.3 million in National Science Foundation funds for personal and family expenses. The money was funneled into Shao's company, Hans Tech LLC, which served as a front to pay the couple's expenses. Purdue spokesman Tim Doty told the Journal & Courier that school officials are aware of Han's plea, and "will carefully consider the matter in light of its policies."

Man reaches plea in incident with judges

INDIANAPOLIS — A man facing felony charges for a May fight during which two judges were shot in downtown Indianapolis has agreed to plead guilty to a misdemeanor charge. Alfredo Vazquez, 24, recently signed a deal with Marion County prosecutors calling for him to plead guilty to one count of misdemeanor battery. In exchange, prosecutors will drop the remaining charges he faces, including two felony battery counts. The Indianapolis Star reported Vazquez is scheduled to formally enter his guilty plea Oct. 23. He was charged for his role in a May 1 fight outside an Indianapolis fast-food restaurant during which Clark County judges Andrew Adams and Brad Jacobs were shot. Brandon Kaiser, 41, is accused of shooting the judges. His trial on 14 charges is scheduled to start Nov. 18.

Girl wounded after gunshots fired at home

MARION — A 7-year-old girl has been wounded after shots were fired into a northeastern Indiana home. WANE-TV reported Sunday that the girl was shot in the knee in Marion, northeast of Indianapolis. She was taken to a hospital with a wound that was not considered life-threatening. Relatives of the girl told emergency responders that she was inside their house Saturday evening when the shooting occurred. No arrests have been made.

Kentucky

State asks fed for drought declaration

LOUISVILLE — The agriculture commissioner of Kentucky wants the U.S. Department of Agriculture to issue a disaster declaration for parts of the state suffering from extreme heat and drought. Ryan Quarles requested the declaration last week in a letter to the state executive director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farm Service Agency, Brian Lacefield. Quarles said in the letter that the declaration would allow affected farmers to apply for emergency Farm Service Agency loans to help recover from the ongoing drought. Sustained dry conditions over the past several weeks have led counties across Kentucky to declare bans on outdoor and open burning. As of two weeks ago, 109 of Kentucky's 120 counties were under a burn ban. Only 17 county burn bans remained as of Saturday.

2 teens killed, 3rd wounded in shooting

LEXINGTON — Police in Kentucky say two teenagers have died and a third was injured in a shooting in Lexington. Lexington police spokeswoman Brenna Angel said in a news release that witnesses saw shots fired from an SUV into a passenger car on Saturday along a street. Angel said three occupants in the car were taken to a Lexington hospital. All were 18-year-old males. Two of them were dead, and the Fayette County Coroner's Office on Sunday identified them as Dwayne Slaughter and Darrian Webb. The condition of the third shooting victim wasn't immediately known. Police are looking for the SUV. The shooting remains under investigation.

Allegations lead to resignation of priest

LEXINGTON — A Catholic priest in Kentucky has resigned as pastor of a church after allegations of inappropriate contact made by two men. Bishop John Stowe accepted the resignation of the Rev. Alan Carter as pastor of Saints Peter and Paul Church in Danville. Catholic Diocese of Lexington communications director Don Clemmer said Carter was removed as vocations director of the diocese last month after the first allegation, which Clemmer said dates back to when Carter was ordained seven years ago. Clemmer said the second allegation "cast the first allegation in an even more serious light." He said it led to Carter being suspended from ministry. Details about the allegations weren't released. Clemmer said he's not aware of any criminal charges against Carter.

UK to expand student center

LEXINGTON — The University of Kentucky plans to expand its newly-opened Gatton Student Center to increase dining and student support space. News media reports say the university's trustees approved the $25 million project Friday. The university said growing enrollment and "high participation levels in UK meal plans" made the expansion necessary. The student center reopened last year on the Lexington campus after a $200 million renovation. University officials say a 750-seat residential dining facility in the student center will be expanded by 325 to 350 seats, and a new serving line is expected to open in July 2021. It's unclear how much of the $25 million project will be paid for by UK. The university said that Aramark, UK's dining partner, will pay for part of the project.

Trump plans Kentucky rally on election eve

FRANKFORT — President Donald Trump's campaign said the president will headline a Kentucky rally on Nov. 4 — the day before the state's voters decide whether to give Trump ally Matt Bevin another term as governor. The campaign said Friday that the evening rally will be at Rupp Arena in Lexington. A release doesn't mention Bevin, who is locked in a tough campaign against Democratic Attorney General Andy Beshear. The Republican governor has aligned himself with Trump, who easily carried Kentucky in winning the presidency in 2016 and remains popular there. Bevin touts his connections with the president as beneficial to Kentucky. Trump headlined a Louisville fundraiser for Bevin this summer. Beshear has focused on state issues and Bevin's feud with education groups in his bid to win in ruby red Kentucky.

Animal welfare crisis at Vanderburgh County shelter

Evansville Courier & Press

EVANSVILLE — Large-scale euthanasia of healthy, adoptable cats may be unavoidable if more people don't step forward to help solve what the Vanderburgh Humane Society is calling a crisis.

VHS Director Kendall Paul pounded home one point that she and other animal welfare activists say must penetrate the public consciousness: Homeless dogs are a problem, yes — but the homeless cat situation is about 10 times worse.

VHS was warehousing more than 300 cats Friday afternoon — and a few dozen dogs and rabbits.

"They'll come in, in a litter," Paul said. "If two people make appointments to bring in a cat and the litter and each cat had five kittens — then just with two appointments, you've got 12. It doesn't take long at all for the numbers to start adding up."

Saying the cats keep pouring in at a rate of as many as 20 a day, Paul has put out an SOS for adoptions with one big incentive. Until Oct. 31, VHS is slashing fees to $20 for cats and $30 for kittens and declawed adult cats. There is no accompanying reduction of services — microchipping, spay/neuter, vaccinations — and no requirement that individuals live in Vanderburgh County.

The best way to limit homeless cats, said Jamie Taylor of Feline Fix, is getting them spayed and neutered, not just taken away. More cats always move in to fill the void when cats are simply removed to be euthanized.

Indy animal shelter filled, offering free adoptions

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indianapolis' largest public animal shelter is offering free adoptions because it's run out of space to house any more cats and dogs. The Indianapolis Animal Care Services' shelter said Friday that it has no open dog kennels or cat cages and it's offering adoptions at no cost. Deputy director Katie Trennepohl said, "we desperately need the public's help." The shelter said several dogs that are "frequently overlooked by adopters" have been at the shelter for more than 100 days. Shelter officials say on the shelter's Facebook page that if adoptions don't increase soon, staff will be "forced to make some tough decisions. " The shelter is on Indianapolis' south side.

3 kids killed at bus stop

Tears flow in court after guilty verdict in case

By LINCOLN WRIGHT
South Bend Tribune
and WESLEY DEHNE
Rochester Sentinel

ROCHESTER — A Fulton County courtroom was filled with tears Friday evening when the jury declared Alyssa Shepherd guilty on all counts in the October 2018 bus stop crash that killed three children and seriously injured a fourth.

The family of the victims, Shepherd's family and even some jurors cried as the verdicts were read after three days of emotional testimony.

"We are coming up on the one year anniversary and now we finally have her held accountable for her actions and we're relieved," said Brittany Ingle, mother of the three children killed.

"It's an amazing feeling," her husband, Shane Ingle added, "to know this is over."

Shepherd, 25, was convicted of three counts of reckless homicide, one count of passing a school bus causing injury and one count of criminal recklessness resulting in serious bodily injury. She now faces up to 21 1/2 years in prison and is scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 18.

The jury, which had one juror replaced with an alternate the second day because of possible bias, came to its conclusion after less than three hours of deliberation.

ALYSSA SHEPHERD

Shepherd struck and killed 9-year-old Alivia Stahl and the girl's 6-year-old twin half brothers, Xzavier and Mason Ingle. Shepherd did not stop for a waiting school bus on Indiana 25, just north of Rochester at the Meiser mobile home park, in the morning hours of Oct. 30, 2018. The bus driver had the vehicle's stop arm and flashing lights activated as the children were crossing the road.

A boy unrelated to the three siblings, 11-year-old Maverik Lowe, also was by hit by Shepherd but survived.

Shepherd testified on her own behalf Friday, saying she saw flashing lights in the distance as she approached from the north. It was dark, she said, and she thought the vehicle that was stopped was a wide-load truck or possibly a tractor.

"I saw a vehicle. It was a very large vehicle. I couldn't tell what it was," she said, adding she assumed it was an oversize load and could tell it was in the other lane. "It looked like it was moving toward me."

She did not see a sign that warns drivers to watch for school buses, Shepherd said.

"At the accident, I was a mess, screaming and crying," she said, explaining an out-of-body experience that didn't feel real and being in shock.

Shepherd said she dialed 911 but the call would not go through. She then called her friend, Brittany Thompson, who is a dispatcher. Thompson took the stand Friday on Shepherd's behalf.

"All I could hear was screaming … screams like I have never heard before," Thompson recalled, saying it was hard to understand what Shepherd was saying.

Thompson said Shepherd asked her at one point to pray for the children and for her.

In closing arguments Friday, defense attorney Michael Tuszynski argued Shepherd's actions did not meet the definition of recklessness. For her actions to be reckless, Tuszynski said, she would have had to know it was a stopped bus with children boarding and not care, continuing to drive.

Tuszynski also argued that if anyone was reckless, it was the Tippecanoe Valley School Corp., for putting a bus stop where children would have to cross a state highway.

Fulton County Prosecutor Michael Marrs said the bus stop had been in place for 50 years. He also reminded the jury of testimony from a driver who was behind Shepherd who said she could tell there was a school bus with its warning lights on and stop arm extended.

Shepherd showed little reaction when hearing the verdicts, which were read aloud by Fulton Superior Court Judge Greg Heller.

At the request of Shepherd's attorneys, Heller ordered a pre-sentence investigation and granted a waiver allowing Shepherd to be sentenced outside of a 30-day window. She was not taken into custody but ordered to report to the Fulton County Probation Office at 9 a.m. Monday.

Michael Stahl, Alivia Stahl's father, said his heart breaks for Shepherd's family. They were put in a difficult situation, he said.

But he doesn't have those feelings for Shepherd. "I have no sympathy for her," he said.

Indiana reports rapid decline in hunting licenses over last 20 years

By CODY THOMPSON
(Martinsville) Reporter-Times

MORGAN COUNTY — The past 20 years have seen a rapid decline in the number of hunting licenses being sold in the state of Indiana. It's a reap-what-you-sow equation where hunters pay for a license, and that money helps provide spaces and resources that allow them to continue hunting safely and effectively.

"As our licensed hunters decrease, so does our revenue," said Jack Basiger, the Hoosier outdoor heritage coordinator for the Division of Fish and Wildlife at the Indiana Department of Natural Resources.

He said the problem is not that they are losing hunters — it's that many hunters are getting older, and their kids and grandkids aren't stepping into their boots. Others echoed his thoughts.

Brandie Maskell, co-owner of the The Barn Archery shop in Martinsville, said youth have been so focused on video games and computers that they have lost some of that traditional "outdoorsness."

"We're losing the youth," she said.

She also stressed the vital role hunting plays in the local ecosystem, as well as the somewhat spiritual connection a hunter develops with their food.

She said hunting is an important part of the process and that meat-eaters should understand that. Your first kill, she said, is unlike anything else.

"The actual emotion you feel is unbelievable," she said.

Jay Marks, the agriculture teacher and FFA advisor at the Metropolitan School District of Martinsville, said many of his students frequently discuss hunting. Several of them were even making plans to go hunting on a recent eLearning day when students had a day out of the classroom and could do their schoolwork online.

He said that that passing down of a family tradition of hunting doesn't happen as much today as 20 or 30 years ago.

If he had to estimate, he said, 20% to 25% of his roughly 70 students were hunting last weekend, when bow season opened for minors. For students not immersed in the traditional hunting lifestyle, he said education is important and, glaringly, missing from schools.

"We've taken away where DNR comes into the schools," Marks said.

He said he started a process a while back, alongside a friend from the National Rifle Association, to form a clay shooting organization in Morgan County. He originally tried to set it up through the school, but he was unable to get it approved. However, he said it would be a great way to get kids involved.

He said it also would be great to get DNR back into schools to teach them about archery, fishing and gun control.

"And the DNR would be more than happy to come into schools and do it," he said.

Basiger said the DNR does offer programs like the Learn to Hunt, Trap, & Shoot Program where they have workshops, seminars and mentored hunts that seek to equip non-hunters with the proper knowledge to hunt safely and effectively.

This is just one of many programs they offer, Basiger said, in addition to their standard hunters' education classes.

A high hunting population has numerous benefits for the local ecosystem. The money that goes to agencies for purchasing licenses helps with conservation efforts for threatened environments or animals.

At a recent conservation tour at Cikana Fish Hatchery in Martinsville, assistant property manager Andy Richards stressed the importance of hunting licenses to the audience, telling them it helps them fund everything they do in regard to maintaining local fish populations.

Hunting also helps control mammal populations, particularly in animals such as deer that would breed to a dangerous capacity for crops and traffic.

"I've killed more deer with my vehicle in the past 10 years than with my gun," Marks said.

High-speed chase ends in fire, shooting

NORTH LIBERTY, Indiana (AP) — Northern Indiana police say officers shot a man after a high-speed pursuit that ended when his vehicle and a police car burst into flames.

St. Joseph County police joined police from Walkerton and adjacent LaPorte County in early Monday's pursuit of a suspicious vehicle with reported stolen plates.

Police say the man driving that vehicle drove through fields, ramming police vehicles before the pursuit ended about 5:30 a.m. in a cornfield south of the town of North Liberty.

Police say the man's vehicle and a Walkerton police car caught fire shortly before officers fired shots at the suspect's vehicle.

The man was struck but he's expected to survive. He's hospitalized in South Bend.

Multiple officers were treated for smoke inhalation after the field around the burning vehicles also caught fire.

OBITUARIES

Charles V. Coble

Charles Vincent Coble, 61, of Madison, Indiana, died Wednesday, Oct. 9, 2019 at King's Daughters' Hospital in Madison.

He was born in New York City Nov. 7, 1957 to William and Barbara Coble Poole. He grew up in Asheboro, North Carolina, attending the city schools there and Wesley Chapel AME Zion Church. He was an accomplished chef holding various positions in the food and restaurant industry. He loved art, comics and martial arts, and was an avid collector of Marvel/DC movies and artifacts. He also trained and competed in kickboxing tournaments under the instruction of Paul Sun and won numerous 1st Place victories.

Family was paramount to him and no matter where he roamed he stayed in touch. He had worked at several factories in Madison and had been working at Bad Apple Mac's in downtown Madison as a chef.

Survivors include his parents; three daughters, Paula "Shanney" Johnson of Asheboro, Helen Bailey of Bakersville, California, and Miriana Coble of Seagrove, North Carolina; one son, Logan Coble of Seagrove; three brothers, Dexter Poole, William Poole Jr. and Randy Poole, all of Asheboro; one sister, Cindy Poole of Asheboro, three grandchildren and many nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.

He was preceded in death by a brother, Perry Coble, and a sister, Deborah McNeill.

Funeral services were Saturday, Oct. 19 at the Gailes Funeral Home Inc. in Asheboro. Local arrangements were provided by Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre in Madison. Memorial contributions may be made to the Charles V. Coble Remembrance Fund. Cards are available at the funeral homes. Online condolences, www.morgan-nay.com

Nancy Hamilton

Nancy Jo Bell Hamilton, 82, of Hanover, Indiana, and formerly of Memphis, Tennessee, died Saturday, Oct. 19, 2019 at King's Daughters' Hospital in Madison, Indiana.

She was born Feb. 1, 1937 in Lansing, Michigan, to Joseph O. and Roanne Carter Bell. She graduated from Central High School in Memphis where she sang in the choir for three years and served as a ROTC sponsor for her high school sweetheart whom she would later marry. She won first place in the Mid-South Fair Talent Show and attended Oklahoma Baptist University in Shawnee, Oklahoma, on a voice scholarship in the School of Fine Arts. She sang in the Bison Glee Club as part of a "Little Sister" group and was a member of the Sigma Alpha Iota musical sorority and sang in numerous school operas.

Her most enjoyable times were spent with family and friends and in her church work where she served as an administrative assistant, in Biblical guidance, and music ministry at the church where she had also been baptized, Bellevue Baptist Church. She sang in choirs from beginners to senior adults and was a soloist in the Sanctuary Choir for 30 years.

She and her husband were also leaders in BTU for young people and served in the Home Bound Ministry. She was choir coordinator for church music ministry for 10 years and was awarded the Church Professional Secretary Certificate from the Southern Baptist Convention. They moved to Hanover in 2014, making new friends and enjoying being a part of Hanover Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Joseph Albert Hamilton Jr.; a daughter, Lisa Lynn Crawford of Hanover, and a son, Steven Glenn Hamilton of Lancaster, Indiana; six grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents.

Funeral services will be 1 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, 2019 at the Memorial Park Funeral Home in Memphis with interment to follow in the Memorial Park Cemetery in Memphis.

Friends may visit Tuesday, Oct. 22, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre in Madison and 11 a.m. until the time of service Thursday, Oct. 24 at the Memorial Park Funeral Home in Memphis.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Hanover Baptist Church Building Fund. Cards are available at the funeral homes.

June Rogers

June Claire Ramage Rogers, 91, died Wednesday, Oct. 9, 2019, in Madison, Indiana.

She was born on June 5, 1928, in Cincinnati to David and Clara Margaret White Ramage. She graduated from the University of Cincinnati in 1950 with a degree in English Literature and married the Rev. William "Bill" Warr Rogers and together they attended McCormick Seminary in Chicago. They partnered in ministry in Kalamazoo, Michigan; Athens, Georgia; Ithaca, New York; Huntington, New York; Bangkok, Thailand, and Salvador, Brazil.

She founded the Child Care Development Association in Ithaca in 1967 and was the director of the Child Advocacy Office of the National Council of Churches. She graduated from Union Seminary in 1987 with a Master of Arts in Education and Theological Studies and completed her coursework for her Doctor of Ministry at San Francisco Theological Seminary. She was the pastor at North Vernon Presbyterian Church and led Presbyterian Women's mission trips to Cuba, Ghana and Brazil.

Her boundless enthusiasm for life, dedication and passion for equality and social justice were recognized throughout her life by many organizations, including the Ithaca Journal Woman of the Year award in 1972 and the creation of the June Rogers Early Childhood Award in Tompkins County by the Child Development Council. She edited the books, "When Churches Mind the Children" for the Child Advocacy office and "God Gave the Increase" for the Year of Education of the Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include her children, John Rogers of Garberville, California, Margee Samuel of Norwalk, Connecticut, Carol Stewart of Youngstown, New York, David Rogers of Plymouth, Minnesota, and Mark Rogers of Hanover, Indiana, and 10 grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, several nieces and nephews and her chosen families in many places.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband. and brothers David and Daniel John Ramage.

A memorial service is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 28, 2019, at 1:30 p.m. at Hanover Presbyterian Church with a reception to follow. All are welcome to attend. In lieu of flowers, send donations to the June and Bill Rogers Peace and Justice Speaker Series at Hanover College, Office of Development, 517 Ball Drive, Hanover, Indiana 47243.

Condolences can be sent to her family at 132 West St., Hanover, Indiana 47243.

Lytle Welty Funeral Homes & Cremation Service is handling arrangements.

John Stoner

John David Stoner, 77, of Hanover, Indiana, died Friday, Oct. 18, 2019 at the Majestic Care of Sheridan in Sheridan, Indiana.

He was born Nov. 5, 1941 in Madison, Indiana, to Everett A. "Tobe" and Sceneth Dean Stoner. He grew up in Jefferson County and graduated from Saluda High School in 1959. Immediately upon graduation, he served in the U.S. Army until 1963.

He was employed as a construction foreman with Force Construction until he retired. He enjoyed motorcycle riding, collecting guns, attending school auctions, horseback riding, and raising Beagles as hunting dogs. His greatest joy was spending time with his children and grandchildren. He had suffered from a terrible and heartbreaking disease, Lewy Body Dementia, and the family has donated his brain to the Harvard Brain Tissue Resource Center, which plays a key role in advancing knowledge on the human brain and understanding how it is affected by brain disorders, specifically Lewy Body Dementia.

Survivors include his wife, Robertine Cowles Stoner; sons, Mark Stoner of Nolensville, Tennessee, and Timothy Stoner of Zionsville, Indiana; step-daughters, Debbie Schafer and Jennifer Spann, both of Madison, Indiana, and Tammy Hamilton of Louisville; brothers, Kenny "Herkey" Stoner and Jess Stoner, both of Hanover; a sister, Linda Bruther of Hanover; and six grandchildren and numerous nieces, nephews and other relatives.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a sister, Lou Ann Stoner Fresh, and two brothers, Cyrus Stoner and Donald "Donnie" Stoner.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, 2019, at the Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre in Madison with interment to follow in the New Prospect Cemetery near Hanover. Friends may visit Wednesday from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. and Thursday from 11 a.m. until the time of service at the funeral home.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Lewy Body Dementia Association to provide further research for funding and treatment options. Cards are available at the funeral homes. Online condolences, www.morgan-nay.com .

Jon Tucker

Jon Arthur Tucker, 64, of Madison, Indiana, died Wednesday, Oct. 16, 2019, at Hosparus Health Inpatient Care Center in Louisville.

He was born in Greensburg, Indiana, June 5, 1955, to EJ and Gertrude Holcomb Tucke. He graduated from Jennings County High School in North Vernon, Indiana, in 1973 and joined the U.S. Army in August of that year in Indianapolis. He was a paratrooper in the 82nd Airborne Division and was honorably discharged Aug. 30, 1977 at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

Upon returning from military service, he became manager of the Burger Chef restaurant in Greensburg. In his spare time he worked at his family's Christmas tree farm. He later worked for Essex Casting in Columbus, Indiana, as a furnace operator until the firm closed in the 1990s. After that, he moved to Madison and worked as a certified boiler operator in the powerhouse of the Madison State Hospital until his retirement.

He enjoyed hydroplane racing and served as pit chairman for the Madison Regatta and was a member in good standing with the regatta committee for many years. He loved military history and airplanes, trains, fireworks, the band KISS, target shooting, reading and campfires.

Survivors include a sister, Kathleen Sprinkle, and six nieces, two nephews, many great-nieces and nephews, and his beloved friend, Lynn Melton.

He was preceded in death by his parents, a sister, Twila Criswell, and a brother, Denver Tucker.

Graveside services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday Oct. 24, 2019, at the Indiana Veterans Memorial Cemetery in Madison with internment in the columbarium at the cemetery to follow.

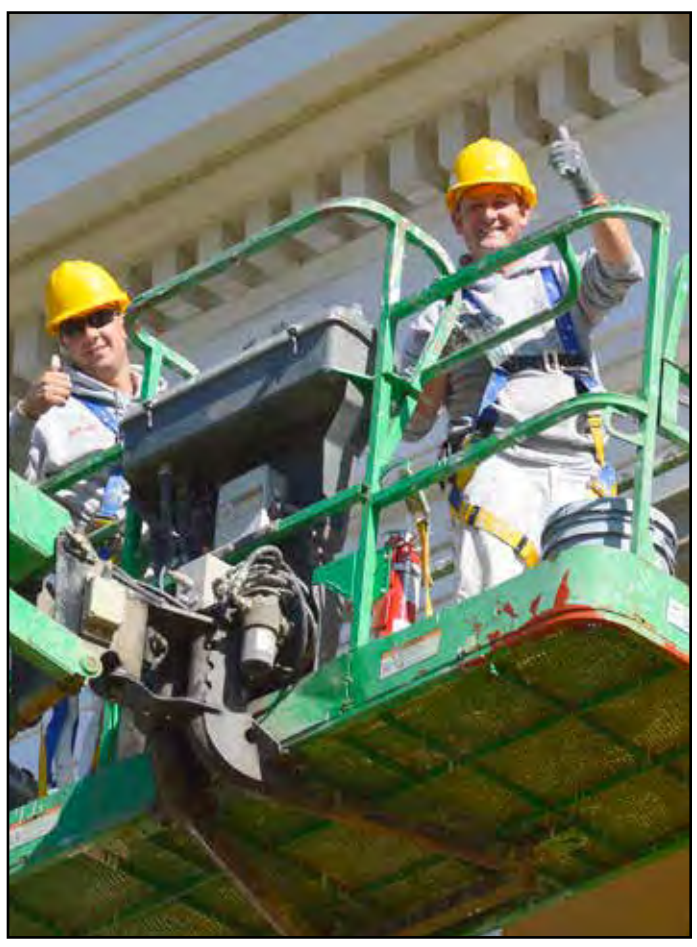
LANIER MANSION GETS A MAKEOVER



Triple D Painting, which is based in Corydon, Indiana, paints mostly residential and commercial projects in the southeastern Indiana area and is getting more involved in Madison's Historic District, said Adam Dicken. The Lanier Mansion State Historic Site — an example of Greek Revival architecture — is closed Mondays, with the exception of Monday holidays. The holiday season at the end of the year, beginning with the ghost walks and continuing through a myriad of events, is a busy one for the site. TV's Weather Channel wades into climate debate

By DAVID BAUDER
AP Media Writer

NEW YORK — The Weather Channel is moving beyond cold fronts and heat waves to wade into the politics of climate change, with a special planned for early next month that includes interviews with nine presidential candidates on the topic.

The campaign's most prominent climate change skeptic — President Donald Trump — declined an invitation to participate.

The hour-long special, scheduled to debut Nov. 7, interviews candidates at various sites chosen to illustrate the impact of climate change. Sen. Bernie Sanders, for example, speaks at the site of a devastating California wildfire and Sen. Kamala Harris along a flood-prone area of the Mississippi River.

The Weather Channel has done specials on the impact of climate change in Alaska and along the Louisiana coast, for example, but this is the first time the network has gotten involved directly in a political campaign.

"It gets the conversation going in a big way," said Rick Knabb, the network's on-air hurricane expert and former director of the National Hurricane Center. He and meteorologist Stephanie Abrams traded off on the interviews.

The Weather Channel wanted to do the special through its own scientific lens, said Nora Zimmett, the network's senior vice president for content and programming. Although other networks inquired about joining and doing a town hall-style event, TWC turned them down.

"We didn't want to have a food fight about whose plan is better," she said.

While the special is something new for the network, Zimmett said executives weren't concerned about turning off weather fans who view it as a refuge from politics, or people like the president who see less urgency in addressing the issue. Despite a "vocal minority," surveys show most viewers want to learn more about the issue and potential solutions, she said.

Trump may not be there, but the special won't ignore him or what his administration has been doing, Knabb said.

Trump recently mocked Swedish climate activist Greta Thunberg on Twitter for a United Nations speech to world leaders and skipped a UN meeting on the issue.

All three announced Republican challengers to Trump — Joe Walsh, former Illinois congressman, Bill Weld, former Massachusetts governor and Mark Sanford, former South Carolina governor and congressman — are interviewed. For time reasons, organizers chose the top seven Democrats in the polls: in addition to Sanders and Harris, Sen. Cory Booker, Sen. Elizabeth Warren, former Rep. Beto O'Rourke and Mayor Pete Buttigieg. Former Vice President Joe Biden was not interviewed; his campaign said it was a scheduling issue.

Knabb said the interviews have taught him a lot about the complexities of proposed solutions.

"The public is going to learn a lot from this," he said.

The Weather Channel's show is separate from the Covering Climate Now initiative, which encouraged news organizations to do more stories on climate change. There's been some criticism that the issue hasn't received enough attention during the presidential debates.

"We've been lonely here on these issues," Zimmett said, "and all we can do is hope that our friends at other media outlets join us."

Let Us Pause to Honor the Memory of

Mrs. Nancy Jo Bell Hamilton

Mrs. Nancy Jo Bell Hamilton, age 82, of Hanover, Indiana formerly of Memphis, Tennessee entered this life on February 1, 1937 in Lansing, Michigan. She was the loving daughter of Joseph O. and Roanne Carter Bell. Nancy graduated from Central High School in Memphis, Tennessee where she sang in the choir for three years and served as a ROTC sponsor for her high school sweetheart, Joe. She also won first place in the Mid-South Fair Talent Show. She attended Oklahoma Baptist University in Shawnee, Oklahoma on a voice scholarship in the School of Fine Arts. She also sang in the Bison Glee Club as a "Little Sister" group. She was a member of the Sigma Alpha Iota (SAI) musical sorority and sang in numerous school operas. Nancy was united in marriage to her sweetheart, Joseph Albert Hamilton, Jr. on December 30, 1956 by Dr. Robert G. Lee at the Bellevue Baptist Church where she had also been baptized. This happy union was blessed with a daughter, Lisa Lynn and a son, Steven Glenn. Nancy's most enjoyable times were spent with family and friends and her church work. She was blessed to have served as Administrative Assistant in the Church Administration Department, Biblical Guidance, and Music Ministry at Bellevue Baptist Church for 46 years. She sang in choirs from beginners to senior adults and was a soloist in the Sanctuary Choir for 30 years. She and Joe were leaders in BTU for young people. They also served in the Home Bound Ministry and she was Choir Coordinator for church music ministry for 10 years. She was awarded the Church Professional Secretary Certificate from the Southern Baptist Convention. They moved to Hanover, Indiana in 2014, making new friends and enjoying being a part of Hanover Baptist Church. Nancy's favorite Bible verses were Proverbs 3:5-6, Isaiah 53:6, and Romans 8:28.

A LOVING FAMILY

BOYS SOCCER REGIONAL

Cubs' stellar season comes to an end

Martinez scores twice in win over West Vigo

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

LINCOLN CITY — Adriano Martinez spent most of the week battling strep throat and flu-like symptoms. By Saturday afternoon, he was feeling just fine.

The Madison freshman scored two goals and helped a depleted Cub team overcome the loss of two starters to beat West Vigo 3-0 in the regional semifinals Saturday at Heritage Hills High School.

Madison opened the match with three starters missing and needing somebody to pick up the slack. Martinez's goal just four minutes into the game did the trick.

"I was happy to start up top and I took advantage of that. I just tried my hardest to show them that, even though I'm just a freshman, I can still play," said the soft-spoken Martinez. "I just played as hard as I could and it worked out."

Martinez's first goal came courtesy of Carson Denton. The Madison senior broke down the West Vigo defense, slicing all the way to the goal, passing the ball back as he hurdled keeper Aiden Rubinacci.

Martinez, who was following the play, took the pass and easily slammed it into the net for a quick 1-0 lead.

"All credit goes to Carson. That was an amazing run," Martinez said. "I was just standing there at the right time to tap it in. That was a good run by Carson and I'm just glad he saw me."

The early goal proved to be all that Madison (12-6-2) would need. The Cubs held West Vigo to just six shots in the match, while collecting 24 of their own. Madison held a 13-5 advantage in shots on goal.

The game remained 1-0 at halftime and Martinez put in the insurance goal in the 57th minute when he fired from out of a scrum in front of the net. Gon-

Memorial rolls over Madison in finals

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

LINCOLN CITY — Madison's boys soccer team has had an historic season in nearly all respects and even a lopsided loss to one of the best programs in the state can't change that.

Second-ranked Evansville Memorial — with four state and nine semistate championships on its resume — claimed its 18th regional title with a dominating 8-0 win over Madison in the regional final at Heritage Hills High School on Saturday.

The loss ends a season that saw Madison post the fourth-best record in school history and reach the regional finals for just the second time ever. Even as his players sat dejected on the bench, coach Kyle Bipes knew what kind of special season his team had just completed.

"Coming into this season I told everybody — and everybody agreed — that this was going to be a rebuilding year. We've got a lot of young guys we were going to have to play and we were looking at probably four or five wins," Bipes said. "I don't know if it was something that I said, but they hit that extra gear and we rattled off six-straight. It's awesome to see these boys buy into what we're trying to do, to get Madison soccer back to what it was in the middle-2000s."

Bipes had joked for several weeks that if his team had reached a regional final and had to play Memorial, he was going to pack all 10 of his players in the box. In retrospect, he might as well have tried the radical tactic.

Madison opened the championship in a 5-1-4 alignment, putting junior Will Heitz — his best playmaker — in a quasi-sweeper role. For Bipes, the key was to play for a shootout.

For a while, the ploy worked. For 21 minutes, Madison bent but didn't break as the Tigers prowled around the edges. Memorial managed only three shots during that span, only one of which was on target and easily scooped up by keeper Zach Forner.

But that all changed in the 21st min-

VOLLEYBALL SECTIONAL

Southwestern volleyball falls to North Decatur, 3-1

By ROB LAFARY
Courier Staff Writer

VERSAILLES — Southwestern dug itself an early hole and, despite an attempt at digging itself out, seeing daylight proved to be impossible as North Decatur took a 3-1 (25-11, 25-19, 23-25, 25-14) win over the Rebels in the IHSAA Class 2A Sectional 45 volleyball tournament semifinals on Saturday at South Ripley.

The Rebels, who defeated North Decatur 2-1 on Sept. 28, found the postseason version of the Chargers a more formidable foe. Southwestern got out of the gate slow and was forced to play with its back against the wall from the get-go. Rebel head coach Chris Johnson said his squad was just never able to get into a consistent flow.

"That first set was just an absolute disaster and we started getting into the flow a little bit in the second set and the third set we were able to put one together," Johnson said. "I thought maybe after we got that third set we might be able to put together some momentum. There just wasn't enough there. North Decatur was the better team today."

The first set immediately spelled disaster as North Decatur raced out to a 15-3 lead before Southwestern managed to end the run and pull to within 18-9. The Chargers responded with three-straight points and finished the set with four-straight to seal a 25-11 win but the Rebels gathered themselves and held their own midway through the second set.

A pair of Charger miscues forced a timeout as Southwestern led 12-10 but a powerful front line, spearheaded by Erika Kramer, resulted in four kills and momentum was quickly back on the side of North Decatur, which used a 7-0 surge to power ahead 17-12. The Rebels got to within four at 19-15 but never threatened the rest of the set and the Chargers finished off the second set with back-to-back points for a 25-19 victory.

"We started and I think all the girls were nervous," Johnson noted of the sluggish start. "Volleyball is a game of momentum. If you can get on a run of three or four points and do that more than the other team, then you're going to win against that team every time. Momentum is just a huge thing and we struggled to get that on our side today."

The most momentum the Rebels were able to catch allowed them to keep the match alive down 2-0 and facing a sweep in set three. After Southwestern stood tied at 10-10 on an ace by Kylie Eccles, it appeared North Decatur would stick to the game plan of stealing momentum and went ahead 19-14.

But Southwestern responded and back-to-back kills by Eccles and Marissa Naylor, paired with two successful serves by Elle Ford, pulled the Rebels to within 20-19. The two teams battled back-and-forth to an eventual 23-23 tie before the Rebels put the set on ice on two North errors and pulled to within 2-1 in the match with a 25-23 win.

"It's a credit to this team," Johnson said of the third set. "They have always done a good job of never letting mistakes bother them. If we made an error we stayed positive and kept our heads in it. We fought and clawed in that third set. That's the character of this team."

North returned to form though in set four to put the match away. The Rebels battled early but the with the set tied at 7-7, the Chargers went on another big run, leading 12-7 before the lead increased 15-8. Southwestern cut the margin to 15-10 on an Autumn Harmon ace but never recovered and found itself down 22-14. North Decatur finished with three-straight points for the 25-14 match-clinching win.

North Decatur (22-9) went on to sweep South Ripley to claim the sectional championship — the Chargers' third straight — Saturday night.

Southwestern finishes the season with an 18-14 record that also includes winning the Ohio River Valley Conference championship. The Rebels lose one senior in Kiah Fink, who did not see action due to injury, but with the rest of the roster returning the group expects to again be a contender in 2020.

"This is the youngest team I have coached in 16 years," Johnson said. "I'm getting most of these girls back so I think the good qualities that this team possessed this year and our fight will only get better as we work towards next season."

zalo Lobato, who arrived from a family vacation just before half, provided Madison's final goal in the 78th minute.

"I was a little nervous because we never play well on Saturday mornings," Madison coach Kyle Bipes said. "We got here and hour and a half before game-time. We left at 7:30 and the boys were not happy about that. But we got here, they got loose and we were able to take our time and not rush and I think that helped them."

Madison was called for seven fouls in the game to two by West Vigo and neither team attempted a corner kick. Madison keeper Zach Forner and Rubinacci each stopped three shots.

West Vigo, which was making just its second-ever appearance in the regional, finished the season with a 10-7-3 record.

ute when Isaac Robertson got behind the Madison defense and sent a charge from the left side that beat Forner for a 1-0 lead.

That goal was the first of three over the next five minutes for Memorial, which took any drama out of the match. Kyler West added a goal in the 22nd minute and Isaac Bennett made it 3-0 in the 26th minute.

Now playing from behind, Bipes had no choice put to go back to his more conventional alignment. It proved to be disastrous.

"Even the Hoover Dam breaks every now and then," Bipes said. "After the first 20, I thought we had settled in, attacked a few times and had a few counters, and then it just came down to a few lapses."

Memorial (15-3-2) scored in the first minute of the second half on a goal by Bennett then added markers in the 52nd by Evan Dean, the 55th by Sam Hodge, the 56th by Drew Garrison and the 76th by Oliver Theby for the final margin.

Madison, which was outshot 25-6 overall and 15-2 on goal, had only a few serious challenges in the game. The first came when Heitz was taken down in the box, an incident that Bipes felt should have warranted a penalty kick chance. Considering that the game was scoreless at the time, it could have made a difference.

"I know it's the regional and you don't want to give cheap fouls, but it was a foul," Bipes said. "I don't know if it would have made a difference, but it would have been a nice start."

Memorial finished with 15 corner kicks in the game to none by the Cubs. The Tigers were also called for five fouls to three for Madison.

Forner stopped six shots in goal for Madison while counterpart Ben Weikert needed only two saves.

Memorial, which beat No. 4 Washington 4-1 in the first semifinal, will now face No. 7 Guerin Catholic in the semistate at Seymour on Saturday.

Madison ends the season with a 12-7-2 record, the third-most wins by the Cubs in school history behind only the 14 they won in 2007 and 13 in 2010. The 2007 squad was the only other one in school history to advance to a regional final.

"(Assistant coach) Adam Jones was such a big part in this. We compliment each other so well. I'm bad cop and he's good cop," Bipes said. "He's helped the kids out tremendously with the little things that I don't see. He sees things differently than I do which is perfect for an assistant coach."

Madison graduates four seniors — Carson Denton, Elias Hanson, Luka Chabukashvili and Matthew Ward — and loses exchange students Hugo Bravo and Gonzalo Lobato. Bipes knows that his squad will take a hit with their loss.

"I can't say enough about what Carson has done over these four years. Matt has been injured all year along but came in and gave us good minutes in the regional with a shredded quad," Bipes said. "Elias is the hardest working student athlete Madison has ever seen, I guarantee it, and Luka had some knee issues last year and came back and probably didn't see the minutes he would have liked. But every guy over there, top to bottom, makes the program what it is and next year we're going to be even better and this is going to be a mainstay for us."

With six freshmen or sophomore starters, Madison has plenty coming back for next year, including a strong eighth grade class which should make an impact immediately. Bipes knows the future is bright, but he also knows that the players will have to work even harder if they want to stand up to Memorial the next time they square off.

"This past summer, we had nine or 10 kids that were coming to open weights and open field but now that they've seen a sectional championship and seen a team like Memorial, they know what it takes to get to that extra gear," Bipes said. "We've got to get bigger, faster and stronger. I played a lot of freshmen and you could probably pick which ones were freshmen. They've got to get into the weight room. But this group is uber-talented; we've got talent from top to bottom. I hope the boys buy in and we can come back next year and hopefully knock off Memorial."

CROSS COUNTRY REGIONAL

Five runners earn semistate berths

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Five local runners punched their tickets to the next round with strong performances at the IHSAA Cross Country Regional at Cereland Park near Columbus on Saturday.

Shawe's Calli Alderman, Switzerland County's Grace White and Madison's Brett Cahall each finished among the top 10 from non-advancing teams in the girls race to earn a berth to the semistate this Saturday at Brown County. Southwestern's Trevor Smith and Gavyn Mundt also qualified on the boys side.

Alderman, a freshman, ran her personal-best time of 19:59.7 to place 10th overall.

"Calli has never ran in such a strong field but she rose to the challenge, dropping 24 seconds off last week's time and adjusting well to being immersed in a group of very strong competitors," Shawe coach Jim Leveille said. "It was nice to have some familiar faces nearby. The Switzerland county girls have taken her under their wing and we were happy to see them advance along with Calli to Brown County next week."

White, also a freshman, placed 17th overall in 20:28.7 to earn a semistate berth. Teammate Alisha Detmer finished 45th in 22:00.0 and missed advancement.

"We are excited to cheer Gracie on at the Brown County semistate next Saturday!" Switzerland coach Meganmarie Dennis said.

Madison qualified as a team in the girls race but placed ninth overall with 189 points. Junior Brett Cahall finished 29th in 21:22.4 to earn a semistate berth while teammate Clare Wilber was 33rd in 21:30.4 and missed advancement by one position.

"Brett did not necessarily have the race she thought she would have but did enough to make sure she moved on. Sometimes that is all it takes. It is hard to move on to semistate competition and to do it three straight seasons is amazing," Madison girls coach Josh Wilber said. "I felt bad for Clare as she just missed going on as she did last season. Her time was good enough to move on in almost every other regional competition across the state. In her senior season it stings a little worse. I am very proud of what she did for the program over her four seasons as she helped lead us to four-straight team regional appearances."

Isabel Wilber was 50th for Madison in 22:28.8, Anne Grady placed 55th in a personal-best 22:43.9, Chloe Ferris was 67th in 23:51.2, Kayla Dattilo was 59th in 23:56.7, and Kelsey Bilz was 79th in 27:49.5.

"I really feel we were just getting to where our team was close to breaking through to the next level. We just needed a few more weeks which was not afforded to us," Josh Wilber said. "I am proud of this team and what each of these ladies accomplished over the season."

Southwestern's Kirsten Geary placed 53rd in 22:36.2 and Justice Kunze was 70th in 24:03.8 as both missed advancing.

Southwestern's boys team qualified for the regional as a group and ended up placing seventh overall with 175 points.

Trevor Smith was 28th overall in 17:05.9 and Mundt was 34th in 17:25.6 to lead the Rebels as both qualified for the semistate. Brandon Smith was 41st in 17:38.2, Caleb Geary was 49th in 17:50.3, Colton Cloud was 50th in 17:53.0, Matthew Williams was 62nd in 18:24.2, and Mitchell Adcock was 80th in 19:35.6.

Madison's Julian Sample ran 65th in 18:34.6, Luke McCarty was 76th in 19:04.0 and Jacob Howell was 79th in 19:26.1. Switzerland County's Julio Regueira Prats was 67th in 18:37.1.

Columbus North won both team races, scoring 20 points in the girls event and 25 in the boys. The Bull Dogs' Brianna Newell won the girls race in 18:50.5 and Matthew Newell won the boys race in 15:36.8.

The semistate will be held at Eagle Park near Nashville on Saturday at 11:30 a.m.

IN THE MATTER OF:
LJC - DOB 8/8/2014
A CHILD ALLEGED TO BE A CHILD IN NEED OF SERVICES AND
Erica Case (Biological Mother)
Andrew Wayne Carter (Alleged Father) And Any Unknown Alleged Fathers

SUMMONS FOR SERVICE BY PUBLICATION & NOTICE OF child IN NEED OF SERVICES HEARING

TO:
Andrew Wayne Carter and Any Unknown Alleged Father
Whereabouts unknown

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the above noted parent whose whereabouts are unknown, as well as Any Unknown Alleged Fathers, whose whereabouts are also unknown, that the Indiana Department of Child Services has filed its Verified Petition Alleging the child to be in Need of Services, in accordance with I.C. 31-34-9-3, and that an adjudication hearing has been scheduled with the Court.

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Judge of the Jefferson Circuit Court, 300 East Main Street, Madison, IN 47250-3537 - 812-265-8930 for a(n) Fact Finding Hearing on 12/12/2019 at 11:00 AM. At said hearing, the Court will consider the Petition and evidence thereon and will render its decision as to whether the above named minor child is child in need of services and shall enter adjudication accordingly. Your failure to appear after lawful notice will be deemed as your default and waiver to be present at said hearing.

UPON ENTRY OF SAID ADJUDICATION, A DISPOSITIONAL HEARING will be held in which the Court will consider (1) Alternatives for the care, treatment, or rehabilitation for the child; (2) The necessity, nature, and extent of your participation in the program of care, treatment, or rehabilitation for the child; and (3) Your financial responsibility for any services provided for the parent, guardian or custodian of the child including child support.

YOU MUST RESPOND by appearing in person or by an attorney within thirty (30) days after the last publication of this notice, and in the event you fail to do so, an adjudication on said petition, judgment by default may be entered against you, or the court may proceed in your absence, without further notice.

Madison closes regular season with 61-14 loss at East

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

COLUMBUS — Madison hasn't had any better luck against Columbus East than the rest of the Hoosier Hills Conference over the past two decades and Friday was no exception as the Olympians rolled to a 61-14 win in the regular-season finale for both teams.

The Cubs stuck to their game plan, controlled the clock and kept Columbus East in check for one quarter, but as they are wont to do, the Olympians broke loose in the second and scored 41-straight points to turn the game into a rout.

The victory clinched East's 16th-straight HHC title and marked the Olympians' 101st-straight win against conference opponents. It was East's 23rd-straight over the Cubs.

"That's a program that has been around for a long time. You don't build something like that in a few seasons," Madison coach Leroy Wilson. "I'm envious because that's what I look at when I look at the future. (East coach Bob) Gaddis and I talked about it before the game, a youth program and get in the weight room. Those two things will change a program. So when I look across the field, that's what we're aiming for."

Madison (1-8, 1-5 HHC) was in the game for the first 12 minutes. The Cubs made the most of their two possessions by eating the clock and playing good enough defense to make East work for its points. The Olympians scored twice in the opening quarter, both on runs by quarterback Malachi Parks.

That all changed in the second quarter. Fumbles, interceptions, missed tackles and penalties combined for a cascade of points for East, which ripped off touchdowns nearly at will to blow open the game.

Trailing 13-0, Madison turned the ball over on downs early in the second quarter and East took advantage with a 60-yard run by Dalton Back to up the lead to 20-0.

The wheels fell off after that for the Cubs. Nathan Day returned an interception 34 yards for a score, a fumble set up a 16-yard run by Parks, Tyler Settle ripped off a 38-yard scoring run, another fumble set up an 8-yard run by Lance Griewe and Tryce Villarreal scored on a 38-yard run to close the quarter for a 54-0 lead.

In the span of 11 minutes, the Olympians (7-2, 6-0 HHC) turned a potential upset into a rout.

With a running clock in the second half, Madison had little time to mount much offense. But the Cubs did manage to break up the shutout on a 79-yard pitch and catch from quarterback Parker Jones to Louis Humes — and a two-point conversion from Jones to Trenton Barnes — midway through the third quarter to close the gap to 54-8.

Madison added another score midway through the fourth quarter. After driving down the field, the Cubs reached the end zone on a six-yard run by Barnes. The conversion pass failed.

Columbus East then capped the scoring with a 46-yard touchdown run by Ty Uphaus for the final margin.

"The rough part is, the plays that we were moving the ball on in the second half against their twos were the same plays we were calling in the first half," Wilson said. "One miscue here, one miscue there and the next thing you know, it's a snowball effect. The defense now has to defend a short field and it's a bad situation. The second half was literally for me a chance for the kids to think positively and that they can move the ball. It's a mental builder for next week."

Madison finished the game with 257 total yards, 202 of which came through the air on 14-of-26 passing from Jones. Humes caught four passes for 117 yards while Barnes rushed 22 times for 63 yards.

Columbus East collected 405 total yards, 340 coming on the ground despite not having a 100-yard rusher. Villarreal led the Olympians with 89 yards and Griewe had 85.

Madison returns home next week to host Greenwood in the sectional opener at Cub Field. The Woodmen ended the season with a 3-6 record after a 35-16 loss to Whiteland on Friday.

Pacers fall to Milan

Switzerland County ended the regular season with a second-straight shutout loss, this time 54-0 to Milan at home on Friday.

Last week, Switzerland lost 58-0 at North Decatur.

The Pacers end the regular season with a 5-4 overall record and 1-4 in the Mid-Indiana Football Conference. Switzerland hosts Paoli (5-4) in the Class 2A Sectional opener next week.

WITH NEW KNEES, HER FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS ARE BLOOMING
BARBARA ARBUCKLE
Barbara Arbuckle is an active lady. She likes to travel. She also likes creating flower arrangements, enough to own her own business, Silk Creations in Scottsburg.
So when recurring knee pain started to slow her down, and keep her from her flower business, she knew it was time to take action.
Her plan included calling Dr. Nathan Polley, Orthopedic Surgeon at King's Daughters' Health.
"Dr. Polley is a fantastic surgeon," Arbuckle says. "He reminds me of my grandson. He talked to us and he answered all of our questions."
Today, Barbara is walking more than she used to. She's active with her flowers and enjoying the activities that make her happy.
If joint pain is keeping you from the things you enjoy, call us today. We're here to help.

FINDING FOSSILS

Hiking Clifty Falls to find remnants of old bones

Clifty Falls State Park Nature Center workers led a tour back in time Saturday for adventurous fossil hunters who wanted to see the animals that existed during one of the biggest explosions of life on the planet. The two-hour trek involved descending 400 feet and moving through the creek bed looking for fossils. Hikers looked for fossilized remnants, but they were mindful that they cannot remove fossils. Watch Looking Ahead for other Clifty Falls fossil hikes.

Hikers moved through a creekbed at Clifty Falls State Park searching for fossils as they learned about history and animals from another time.

A park ranger explains details about a fossil in the creekbed.

The park ranger briefly explains to the hikers about the different fossils found in the area.

As hikers reached the creek bed they received a quick briefing on the history of creekbed/canyon and began searching for fossils. (Photos by Connor Jacobs)

BRIDGE

KEEP YOUR WINNERS SAFE AND SOUND

In the 1890s, H.G. Wells made a prediction about air travel. After mentioning some early pioneers, he added that he "will be inclined to believe that long before the year A.D. 2000, and very probably before 1950, a successful aeroplane will have soared and come home safe and sound."

An excellent prediction! Now, how should South play in four spades to bring home his contract safe and sound? West leads the diamond two to his partner's ace, and East returns the diamond eight.

The bidding did not reach the best contract. Maybe South should have rebid three no-trump.

Still, South cannot worry about that now. What losers does he have? There seem to be only three in diamonds. How about winners? Again, at first glance, there are no worries: declarer has six spades, three hearts and the diamond king. What might go wrong?

South should read West's lead. Given East's having bid diamonds twice, West's diamond two must be a singleton. So, if declarer covers East's diamond eight with his king, West will ruff. Then South will have only nine winners. Yes, he might get lucky and ruff down a singleton or doubleton club ace, but why take the risk?

At trick two, South should play a low diamond, not the king. And when East continues with a third diamond, he must play low again. Then West will have to ruff to stop declarer from trumping on the board.

West will shift to a club, but declarer can ruff, draw trumps and claim those 10 winners.

Homemakers clubs meet

Sunshine Homemakers

The Sunshine Homemakers met at the home of President Dorothy Morgan Oct. 8, 2019. Morgan led the meeting by repeating the Homemaker Creed and the pledge to the U.S. flag. She gave devotions from a book by Anita Donahue, "When I am on my Knees." Roll call was answered with favorite Halloween treat. The thought of the month was that October is always the least dependable of months. It is full of ghosts and shadows. The club sang "Don't Sit Under the Appletree." Marie Black gave the secretary's report and Louise Anthony gave the treasurer's report. The lesson was "Healthy Aging — A Healthy Brain: Use it or Lose It." It was reported that toiletries have been purchased for the first baby to be born at King's Daughter's Hospital in 2020. The club is working on a quilt to be sent to an organization in Pennsylvania. The next meeting will be Nov. 13 at 2 p.m. Anyone who would like to become a member should call the Extension Office at 812-265-8919.

Jefferson County Extension Homemakers

The Jefferson County Extension Homemakers met Oct. 3 at the Lonnie Mason Extension Office. President Carol Bell opened the meeting with the pledge to the U.S. flag. Secretary Dorothy Canada gave the secretary's report and Treasurer Diana Giltner sent in a treasurer's report. The club received a thank you from Madison Schafer for sponsoring the 4-H dress revue trophy and a thank you from Erika Hazelwood for the scholarship award. We were encouraged to keep volunteer hours. Anyone who would like to become a member should call the Extension Office at 812-265-8919. The meeting closed with the members reciting the Homemakers Creed.

Neighborhood Watch:

Too friendly and not friendly enough

Annie Lane

Dear Annie: Recently, we had new neighbors move in beside us. They are extremely nice people, and we like them very much. However, there is one problem: They drop in unannounced.

I don't know how to tell them that if they would just call first, then I would have enough time to tidy up a bit or could tell them it wasn't a good time to visit. When someone shows up at the door, a whole family of five, and the father leads with, "Is this a good time?" it's very difficult to say, "No, this isn't a good time because I'd like to tidy up first."

I thought us eating dinner would be sufficient for them to realize it wasn't a good time, but the father just said, "Oh, go ahead and eat, don't mind us."

It has happened often enough now that it's apparent on my face. I think that they know something is wrong, and I'm afraid it's that they think I don't like them, which is not the case. So now, upon arrival, the father profusely says: "Is this a good time? I hate to bother you... blah, blah, blah." I'm writing to you in hopes that he will read your column and you can tell him for me. -- Please Call First

Dear Please Call First: Instead of showing your dismay through your facial expressions, just say that you don't like it when people show up unannounced. You can tell them that you love them as neighbors, and you are thrilled that they live next door, but it's just one of your pet peeves. Then, request that they call first. If they don't take the hint, and continue showing up unannounced, hand them a piece of paper with your phone number and maybe a smiley face on it. Remember, keep it light, but also keep your boundaries clear.

Dear Annie: I'm hoping you can give me some sound advice. I live in a safe neighborhood and get along with my neighbors. My next-door neighbor is a heavy smoker and also chews tobacco. Recently, my husband and I noticed stains on the siding of our house. We realized that our neighbor has been spitting tobacco juice from his attic onto our house.

We are positive it is him. When we asked him about it, he denied it and blamed it on bird droppings. After the discussion we had with him, it stopped. It has now started again, and we don't know what to do. Should we confront him again? Please help! -- Annoyed Neighbor

Dear Annoyed Neighbor: Yes, you should talk with him again. Sadly, sometimes people need to be reminded twice. Now, if the second time doesn't work, I would suggest installing a camera. They are not very expensive. There is also the remote possibility that it really is bird droppings. With video, you will know for sure. Good luck.

"Ask Me Anything: A Year of Advice From Dear Annie" is out now!
